

Consultancy Overview

Tower Pharma Consulting is a boutique consultancy that specialises in supporting pharmaceutical product development and drug delivery. It provides a variety of scientific, technical and project management services to pharmaceutical/biotech companies and government agencies. Its founder, Dr. Louise Rosenmayr-Templeton, is a qualified pharmacist with over 18 years' experience in the fields of pharmaceutical research and development as well as project management.

Our Services

Technology Evaluation, Expert Reports & Benchmarking Studies

- Research and technology evaluation in the fields of pharmaceutical product development, drug delivery and biotechnology. Clients include those considering licensing/joint venture type relationships or funding bodies seeking external expert evaluation to inform funding decisions.
- Assessments carried out from a scientific, future applicability and commercialisation perspective depending on the client needs.
- Production of expert reports and bench-marking studies on individual projects or research/development areas.

Formulation Strategies, Life Cycle Management & Development Expertise

- Development of formulation strategies including the application of novel drug delivery technology to difficult to formulate compounds such as poorly water-soluble compounds, proteins, peptides, and oligonucleotides. These strategies can be for new actives or for line extensions as part of the life cycle management of already marketed compounds.
- Provision of formulation expertise, critical overview and practical problem-solving on ongoing projects. Input includes the content and review of CMC sections of regulatory documents.

Service Provider Evaluation

- Identification and evaluation of service providers that offer contract development and manufacturing services to the pharmaceutical and biotech industry. Projects range from clients with minimal in-house capabilities to larger companies seeking a reliable partner to solve their capacity issues.

Project Management Services

- Management of third party relationships and outsourced projects. Undertakes the direct management of projects, if the client so wishes.

Clients & Working Together

Tower Pharma Consulting provides services to pharmaceutical/biotech companies and government agencies. Each client is treated as an individual and we work closely with our customers to deliver tailor-made solutions to meet their needs. In addition to our in-house expertise, we have a network of external experts to call upon if the need arises. Client references are available on request.